

Phosphene

Each performer plays a multiphonic of their choice continuously while spread out from each other, maintaining a stationary position.

Each audience member chooses a multiphonic to walk towards with their eyes closed.

Performers, with their eyes closed as well, only change the multiphonic they are playing when they sense that an audience member is close to their body.